Greetings!

I am pleased to join Jackson County Library Services as the new Director. I started in early August, and already I have been welcomed by so many friendly faces in the area. I moved here from Salt Lake City, Utah, where I spent the past three years working at the State Library.

I am excited to join the Jackson County community and look forward to continuing the great services that are in place at JCLS, and to find new ways to connect with the communities we serve. From storytimes to book clubs to teen movie showings, and many other opportunities, we have something for everyone at our libraries, and it is my mission to help each of you find the best way to connect to your local library.

I believe that libraries are the heart of the communities they serve, and it is through the connections that we make, with our excellent staff, our diverse collections, and our broad range of programming, that makes the library—and you—successful. I look forward to getting to know you, and to exploring this beautiful part of Southern Oregon.

Sincerely,

Kari May
Jackson County Library Services Director

JCLS Welcomes Kari May, Our New Director
